

PLEASE READ THIS INFORMATION CAREFULLY BEFORE FILLING OUT THIS FORM

The Traveling Scholar Program is designed to give UF graduate students the opportunity to take special courses or do special research or field work not available on the University of Florida campus. By mutual consent of UF and the host institution through this program, a UF graduate student can take courses at the host institution without having to go through its usual graduate school application process or having to meet its admissions requirements. The student is guaranteed that the course credits earned at the host institution will count towards his or her UF degree. The reason for wanting to study as a traveling scholar must be strictly educational. A more convenient location for the student is not a valid reason, and proposed programs based on this reason cannot be approved. Proposed programs that include courses available at UF cannot be approved either.

This program is not meant to allow a UF graduate student to take a large amount of course work for his or her UF degree outside of UF. As a norm, participation is limited to one term only. The maximum number of credits that can be earned and transferred is 12 — unless the credit is taken through the UF College of Engineering FEEDS Program, which allows a maximum of 15 credits. In either case, the student's department or supervisory committee at UF reserves the right to set its own limits (lower than these 12-credit or 15-credit maximums), if they see fit. A UF graduate student must be admitted to and enrolled in a UF graduate program before taking course work under the Traveling Scholar Program. A student cannot participate in this program in the last semester of his or her degree program, because of the delay in receiving official transcripts from the host institution — they may not arrive before degree certification and graduation.

The Traveling Scholar Program is for study at other institutions inside Florida's State University System or outside of it, but located in the United States. It does not cover study outside of the United States. For traveling scholar programs outside the United States, go to the UF International Center in Ü [[{ Äï €Á/ @Ä´ à and fill out â Graduate Academic Advising Form instead of this one.

2. Get your supervisory committee chair, department chair and college dean to approve and sign the form.
3. Take the completed and signed form to UF Graduate School Student Records (106 Grinter Hall) for its coordinator's approval and signature. Allow ample time beforehand for review, approval and processing of this form.

6. When you finish the courses at the host institution, go to its registrar's office and request that it mail official sealed transcripts directly to your department back at UF.
7. Make sure your department receives the transcripts, fills out a Transfer of Graduate Credit form for you, attaches the original transcripts to it and sends those documents to UF Graduate School Student Records (POB 115500) via campus mail.

FLORIDA BOARD OF EDUCATION RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE TRAVELING SCHOLAR PROGRAM

6C-6.07 Traveling Scholar Program

1. Purpose. The program will enable a graduate student to take advantage of special resources available on another campus but not available on his own campus: special course offerings, research opportunities, unique laboratories, and library of collections.
2. Procedure.
 - A. A traveling scholar is a graduate student who, by mutual agreement of the appropriate academic authorities in both the sponsoring and hosting institutions, receives a waiver of admission requirements and the application fee of the host institution and a guarantee of earned resident credits by the sponsoring institution.
 - B. A traveling scholar must be recommended by his own graduate adviser, who will initiate a visiting arrangement with the appropriate faculty member of the host institution.
 - C. After agreement by the student's adviser and the faculty member at the host institution, graduate deans at both institutions will be fully informed by the adviser and have the authority to approve or disapprove the academic arrangement.
 - D. A student will register at the host institution and will pay tuition and/or registration fees according to fee schedules established at that institution.
3. Conditions.
 - A. Each university retains its full right to accept or reject any student who wishes to study under its auspices.
 - B. Traveling scholars will normally be limited to one term (semester, trimester, quarter, etc.) on the campus of the host university.
 - C. Traveling scholars are not entitled to displacement allowance, mileage, or per diem payments. The sponsoring institution, however, may at its option, continue its financial support of the traveling scholar in the form of fellowships or graduate assistantships, with the work obligation to be discharged either at the sponsoring or host institution.
4. Information in the University Catalogs. Information about the traveling scholar program should be included in the catalogs of the participating universities.

Before this form is submitted, the student must first be admitted to both his/her graduate program and professional program. Use this form to set up an individual joint degree classification for a student already admitted to and enrolled in a professional degree program who wants to pursue a graduate degree program simultaneously. The student cannot have received either of the degrees indicated on this form. Approval of a program of study for a joint degree program does not constitute certification of those degrees for graduation. Do not allow students to fill out and submit this form: it must be filled out by an office staff member and signed by the appropriate administrators. Incomplete, incorrect or unsigned forms will be returned unprocessed.

*Not to be confused with a concurrent degree classification, which means a student is enrolling in two graduate degree programs simultaneously. (Joint degree = professional degree + graduate degree. Concurrent degree = graduate degree + graduate degree.)
